I love comics. I mean real old-school comics. I worked for Bob Hope. I loved and learned from my buddy Paul Lynde. I have a new guy I insist you check out. His name is Jason Stuart and he is just simply brilliant. He is truly recognized in the biz as a gifted, prolific actor as well. He has been in a ton of things: Will & Grace, Charmed, Everybody Hates Chris, My Wife and Kids. He has a television special running on HereTV titled, Jason Stuart: Making It to the Middle. I spoke with him last week and just simply fell in love with his wit. True wit. This guy is a total star. Check him out at www.jasonstuart.com.
